

Nexus Leading Across Boundaries (LAB)

Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Published by:

CC-BY: This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License.

This work was made possible in part through generous funding from the Institute for Museum and Library Services (IMLS Award RE-00-14-0095-14)

October 2017

Authors:

Anne Ackerson, Chrystie Hill, Christina Drummond, David Horth, Carol Jenkins, Rosemary Pleva Flynn, Susan Perry, Cal Shepard, Katherine Skinner, Rita Van Duinen

Editors:

Nexus LAB Project Team

Available for download at: <https://educopia.org/publications/nexus-layers-of-leadership>

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Key Roles and Challenges

Role specific skills are developed in each level. Common skills are also developed across all levels.

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Things to Remember

Connections between materials:

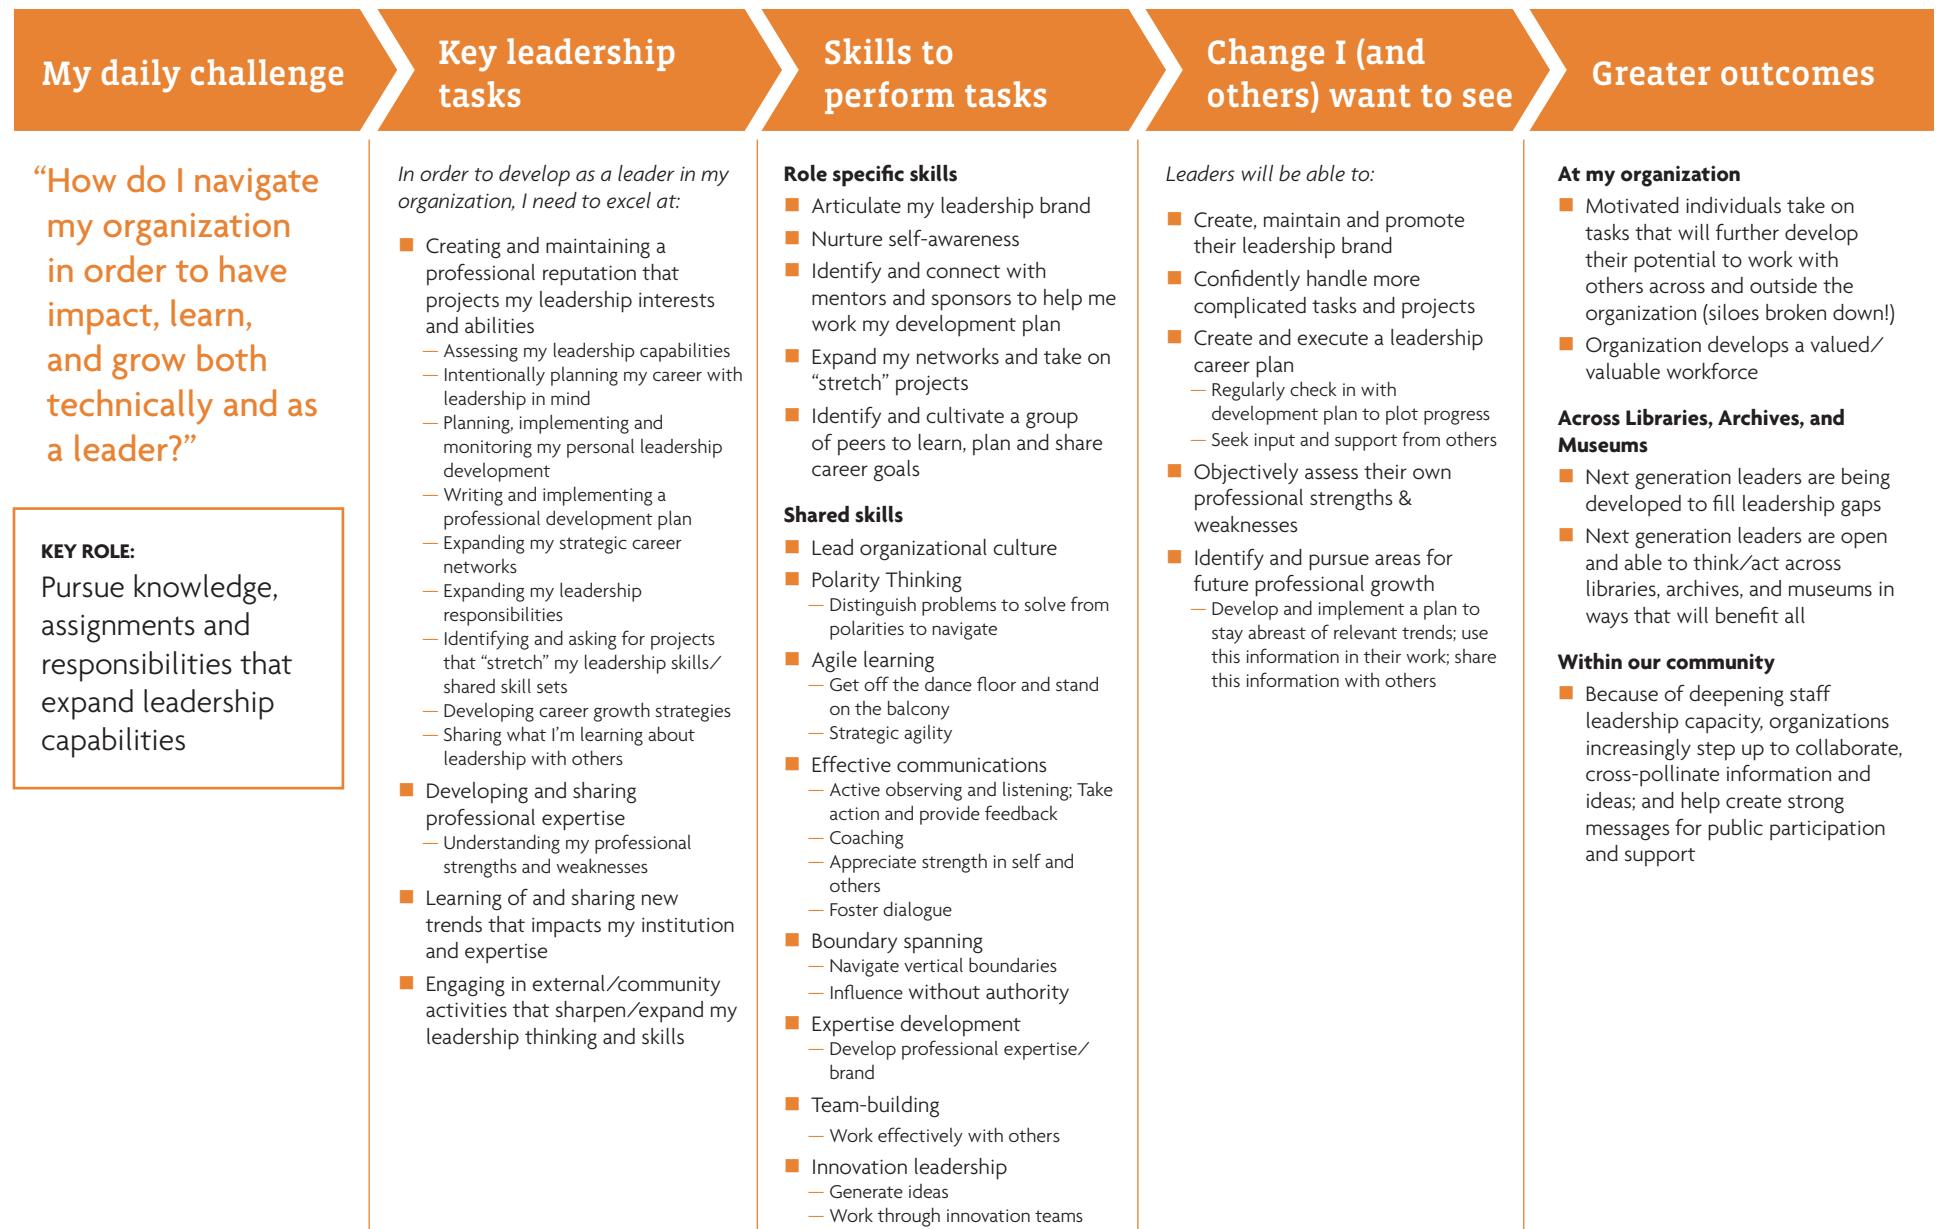

- All six leadership layers, their associated role-specific skills, and their shared skills are depicted on pages one and nine of the Layers of Leadership.
- Each layer is elaborated in pages three to eight. Each layer includes a daily challenge and key role, the key leadership tasks and role-specific skills required by that layer, and the changes and outcomes successful leaders in this layer can expect to experience.
- While some leadership skills are tied to specific layers, others are common skills that are developed across one's career in different ways.
- Most people will experience multiple layers at once in different areas of their lives. These layers are not progressive (e.g., you don't have to master Layer A before engaging in Layer B), but rather are fluid (e.g., you may find that you "lead the organization" at work and also "lead self" in volunteer activities).

Parameters to remember:

- Remember leadership skills are developed across one's lifetime — reflected competencies are suggested milestones.
- Continuing education and professional development events may address one or many of the skills or learning objectives. Single events may also address multiple layers.
- The "Layers of Leadership" have many uses, including the following: 1) by individuals, to consider and gauge the leadership competencies they need at different stages of their work and career; 2) by graduate programs, to help students think about their lifelong learning trajectory for leadership; 3) by trainers, to customize training offerings that meet the competency needs of a specific layer's challenges; 4) by supervisors, to identify competencies needed within their staff and offerings that may address those competencies; 5) by existing training programs, to help construct and/or revise curricular offerings to address different phases of leadership growth; 6) by funders, to identify gaps and/or opportunities in the landscape of offerings; and 7) by trainers and programs to help contextualize and advertise their offerings to specific audiences.

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Layer A – Leading Self: Design Framework

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Layer B – Leading Others: Design Framework

My daily challenge	Key leadership tasks	Skills to perform tasks	Change I (and others) want to see	Greater outcomes
“I’m good at doing my own work, but how do I get the work done through others?” KEY ROLE: Add value to position and organization with creative and transformative teamwork	In order to develop as a leader in my organization, I need to excel at: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Developing and empowering staff■ Assessing and adapting my personal leadership style■ Inspiring creative thinking■ Focusing less on myself and more on others■ Building strong, diverse teams<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Cultivating different perspectives— Fostering collaborative engagement■ Adapting responses to complex organizational challenges<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Fostering input into change■ Speaking persuasively in public■ Recognizing and navigating dependencies■ Developing external relationships<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Representing my organization’s brand— Fostering collaboration and partnerships— Advocating	Role specific skills <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Encourage new knowledge and ideas<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Foster visioning— Lead change— Foster openness to change— Encourage and facilitate new, creative ways of working together— Assist others with anxiety/change management■ Diverse talent recognition and development■ Conflict resolution■ Motivation of others■ Situational leadership skills – including delegating Shared skills <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Lead organizational culture■ Polarity thinking■ Agile learning<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Get off the dance floor and stand on the balcony— Strategic agility■ Effective communications<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Active observing and listening— Take action and provide feedback based on what you learn— Coaching— Appreciate strengths in self and others— Foster dialogue■ Spanning boundaries<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Influence without authority■ Developing expertise<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Develop professional expertise/brand■ Team-building■ Innovation leadership<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Facilitate creative problem solving and design thinking— Lead innovation teams	Leaders will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Apply tools and techniques to encourage knowledge and idea generation in their part of the organization■ Initiate and lead change in their part of the organization and lead change in support of organizational change initiatives■ Identify various work types, talents, and styles within teams■ Identify, plan for and recruit diverse work types, talents, and perspectives within teams■ Apply tools and techniques to facilitate collaboration■ Apply new team motivation techniques■ Adapt their leadership approaches to the demands of specific situations	At my organization <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Staff and teams develop new knowledge, and generate and share new ideas while feeling supported■ Teams get more done through a collaborative approach Across Libraries, Archives, and Museums <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Organization is better poised to initiate and participate in cross-sector collaboration and information sharing■ Best practices are shared broadly for leadership development Within our community <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Programs and services are more quickly/creatively developed■ Programs and services respond to community needs

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Layer C – Leading the Department: Design Framework

My daily challenge	Key leadership tasks	Skills to perform tasks	Change I (and others) want to see	Greater outcomes
“How do I translate organizational culture and associated strategy into practical plans and objectives that my people can relate to and be measured on?” KEY ROLE: Manage complex strategies and projects through cross-functional teams	In order to develop as a leader in my organization, I need to excel at: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Communicating and operationalizing strategy<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Identifying and evaluating projects/programs that are ripe for intra-departmental teamwork— Recognizing opportunities for inter-departmental collaboration■ Modeling my organization's brand and culture<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Grasping, interpreting, and embodying key brand attributes and behaviors■ Championing and connecting to transform their staffs' ideas into innovation■ Building, nurturing and evaluating teams<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Selecting, motivating and evaluating talent for intra-departmental teamwork— Building and nurturing agile, collaborative teams that are committed to organizational learning, innovation, transformation and accountability— Developing mindsets and skill sets that will help teams be comfortable with organizational change, big-picture thinking and boundary-spanning— Developing, monitoring and measuring strategic plans, work plans, and metrics— Encouraging open communication, information sharing, networking and effective feedback within the department■ Strengthening individual team members<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Helping staff develop personal development plans— Holding staff accountable for developing their own direct reports■ Understanding, identifying and cultivating needed human and financial resources	Role specific skills <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Differentiate strategy from tactics■ Effectively communicate shared goals and outcomes, and greater outcomes■ Attract and develop new strategic partners■ Develop strategic networks that lead to information exchange/collaboration among LAMs/across sectors■ Lead innovation<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Encourage design thinking: experimentation and rapid prototyping— Facilitate new ideas to connect and influence strategy— Span boundaries in order to champion, connect, and transform ideas into innovations■ Develop and foster productive teamwork and a sense of community within a department■ Attract and develop new financial resources Shared skills <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Leading organizational culture■ Polarity thinking<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Navigate the polarity of strategy and innovation■ Agile learning<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Thinking systematically about their role in the middle of the organization■ Effective communications<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Active observing and listening— Take action and provide feedback based on what you learn— Coaching— Appreciate strengths in self and others■ Spanning boundaries<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Influence without authority■ Developing expertise<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Act as thought leader— Develop professional expertise/brand■ Team-building■ Innovation leadership	Leaders will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Think and act strategically■ Lead intra-departmental, cross-functional strategy and development■ Assemble and use intra-departmental/cross-functional teams effectively■ Connect and communicate cross-functional design thinking and evaluation to strategies and success metrics■ Evolve strategy to capitalize on new ideas/developments■ Recognize challenges to and techniques for leading intra-departmental and cross-functional teams■ Navigate cross-functional perspectives/needs into overall strategy■ Increase team members' confidence and professional networks within department■ Recognize and take advantage of opportunities to collaborate across departments or outside the organization■ Attract necessary talent and funding to accomplish strategies	At my organization <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Stronger departmental strategy development■ Departmental staff are more productive and happier, with addressed needs■ Department leaders are better positioned to connect and collaborate with others■ Departments are able to take on complex strategies and projects■ Leaders are more able to attract resources Across Libraries, Archives, and Museums <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ More organizations are poised to initiate and participate in cross-sector collaboration and information sharing■ Best practices are shared broadly for leadership development Within our community <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Programs and services are more quickly/creatively developed■ Programs and services respond to community needs

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Layer D – Leading Multiple Departments: Design Framework

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Layer E – Leading the Organization: Design Framework

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Layer F – Leading the Profession: Design Framework

My daily challenge	Key leadership tasks	Skills to perform tasks	Change I (and others) want to see	Greater outcomes
“How do I make an impact on the growth, development, sustainability and reputation of my profession?” KEY ROLE: Help my profession constructively examine itself and evolve	In order to develop as a leader in my profession, I need to excel at: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Practicing and communicating thought leadership■ Challenging norms■ Ensuring scalability and sustainability■ Building relationships/forging networks across libraries, archives, and museums to break down siloes■ Seeing and understanding libraries, archives, and museums holistically, as a single integrated ecosystem■ Interacting and partnering with library, archives and museum leadership nationally and internationally	Role specific skills <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Negotiate political entities■ Gather, synthesize, test, adapt and use ideas and information from across LAMs, nonprofit and for-profit sectors■ Sharpen critical thinking, writing and speaking skills■ Lead or participate in large-scale change efforts that can be used across LAMs■ Build strong cases for change that can be used across LAMs■ Work leading the profession into my daily/weekly/monthly routines■ Be transparent and trusted Shared skills <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Leading organizational culture<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Transform the profession■ Polarity thinking<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Envision emerging polarities■ Agile learning<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Encourage community partners to be actively learning■ Effective communications<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Persuasive and influential communicator— Appreciate strengths in self and others■ Spanning boundaries<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Influence without authority— Navigate multiple types of boundaries■ Developing expertise<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Act as thought leader— Develop professional expertise / brand— Authoritative voice for the profession■ Team-building<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Build effective teams across organizational boundaries■ Innovation leadership<ul style="list-style-type: none">— Lead innovation strategy— Cultivate culture of innovation— Act as role model	Leaders will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Articulate issues shared by archives, libraries, and museums■ Articulate/develop standards and best practices/models/case studies for collaboration across libraries, archives, and museums■ Diplomatically draw divergent voices into conversations about the future of libraries, archives, and museums■ Integrate trends from across nonprofit and for-profit sectors■ Encourage libraries, archives, and museums to become laboratories of experimentation and innovation	At my organization <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ I'm authentically walking the talk■ My and/or my institution's work is cited as a model■ Reframe the value of the industry Across Libraries, Archives, and Museums <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ The value of libraries, archives and museums is increasingly understood by diverse stakeholders■ Libraries, archives, and museums are increasingly seen as indispensable educational and cultural community assets■ Libraries, archives, and museums collaborate more to communicate impacts and develop best practices and models around shared needs■ Libraries, archives, and museums increasingly work together on advocacy and awareness-building, fundraising, and joint programming around shared issues Within our community <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ Greater recognition of organizational value within and across distinct communities■ Recognition of organization as a critical part of the community fabric■ Libraries, archives, and museums have a stronger voice on national and international stages

Nexus LAB: Layers of Leadership across Libraries, Archives, and Museums

Some leadership skills develop in stages and across layers

	LAYER A: Leading Self	LAYER B: Leading Others	LAYER C: Leading the Department	LAYER D: Leading Multiple Departments	LAYER E: Leading the Organization	LAYER F: Leading the Profession
Leading Organizational Culture						Transform the profession
Polarity Thinking	Distinguish problems to solve from polarities to navigate		Get off dance floor & stand on balcony Navigate polarity of strategy & innovation			Envision emerging polarities
Agile Learning	Appreciate strengths in self and others	Strategic agility		Encourage staff and board to actively learn Think systematically about role in organization		Encourage community partners to actively learn
Effective Communications		Coaching Active observing & listening. Take action. Provide feedback				Persuasive and influential communicator
Spanning Boundaries	Navigate vertical boundaries			Appreciate own and others strengths Influence without authority		Navigate multiple types of boundaries
Developing Expertise		Develop professional expertise / brand		Act as thought leader		Authoritative voice for the profession
Team Building	Work effectively with others				Build effective teams across organizational boundaries
Innovation Leadership	Generate ideas, work in innovation teams	Facilitate creative problem solving and design thinking; lead innovation teams		Facilitate environment for innovation; develop pipeline of innovative projects		Cultivate culture of innovation Lead innovation strategy